DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 – 4 and 6 – 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent Application No. 2002/0141559 (Gurgun).

With respect to claims 1 – 4 and 6 – 25, note that Gurgun teaches these claimed limitations (note the Abstract, paragraphs 0015, 0017 and 0020, 0022 and Figs. 9 – 11). Though a data server is not specifically mentioned, such would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, if not inherent. With respect to a visual indicator, note the use of caller ID in the paragraphs above. With respect to the specifics of the timing parameters, i.e., 1 second to 2 minutes and greater than two minutes, note that Gurgun teaches a predetermined time and therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use whatever time was deemed necessary.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gurgun and U.S. Patent No. 6,631,188 (Sands).

Gurgun teaches the claimed limitations as shown above except the use of speech-to-text and text-to-speech. However, note that Sands teaches a call waiting suppression device that uses both speech-to-text and text-to-speech. (Fig. 1 of Sands). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have incorporated such speech-to-text and text-to-speech as taught by Sands into the Gurgun device as an obvious value-added item.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Please note the Abstract and Figs. of the references contained on the enclosed 892.
